

The Host Organizations of the
U.S. CELEBRATION OF WORLD
STANDARDS DAY 2015
present

STANDARDS IN THE HOUSE

How Standards Protect the Nation's Citizens

While often not directly obvious to consumers, standards play an important role in assuring that the homes consumers live in and the products they use are safe. From consumer electronics to housing safety, citizens and government benefit from a strong standards system. Join representatives from the U.S. public-private standardization system to discuss how the consensus process helps protect the public's safety and pocketbook.

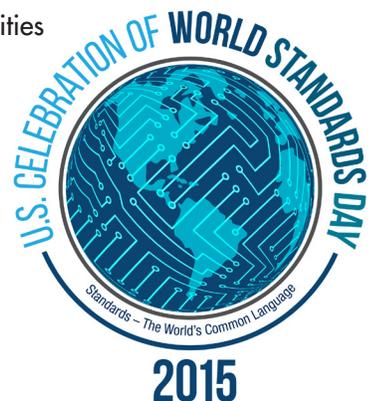

Wednesday, June 24 ■ 11:30 am – 1:30 pm ■ B338 Rayburn

The following speakers will share insights on their roles in the standards process:

- Henry Green, President & CEO, National Institute of Building Sciences (NIBS)
- Jeff Joseph, Senior Vice President, Communications & Strategic Relationships, Consumer Electronics Association (CEA)
- Dave Wilson, Vice President, Technology & Standards, Consumer Electronics Association (CEA)
- Joe Bhatia, President & CEO, American National Standards Institute (ANSI)
- Government/Congressional representative TBA

- Exhibits from prominent standards and code organizations
- Networking opportunities
- Brown bag lunch provided

Please RSVP
by June 19 to cakers@ce.org

Co-hosted by

