Nadja Infanti - Sr. Manager, Global Codes & Standards for Carrier Corporation, a global provider of healthy building technologies.

Carrier provides fire safety, security, building automation, heating, ventilating, air-conditioning and refrigeration systems and services to its commercial and residential customers, world-wide, promoting integrated, high-performance buildings that are safer, smarter, healthier & sustainable.

Having worked in various industries within innovation and product development teams, Nadja has over 20 Years' experience in the implementation and management of quality, environmental, safety & product compliance standards, anticipating and driving changes for emerging technologies and regulations.

At her current role Nadja coordinates Carrier's technical expert participation in relevant committees, driving organic growth through advocacy of enhanced life safety requirements in industry codes, standards and selective regulations.

Currently, her personal focus lies with US-based codes and standards development bodies (SDO's), and code development organizations. She is an active participant and member of various UL, ANSI, NFPA, ASHRAE, AHRI, ICC & IAPMO committees & workgroups and serves as a liaison to Carrier on a variety of industry associations.

Additionally, Nadja serves as the appointed Ethics and Compliance Officer (ECO), for the Carrier WHQ Engineering Teams.
