Tuesday, March 24, 2026 - 8:00 am – 12:00 pm (Mountain Time)

Kimpton Miralina Resort & Villas

7200 N Scottsdale Rd, Scottsdale, AZ 85253

Dress Code: Business Casual

8:00 am – 9:00 am Networking and Breakfast

9:00 am – 9:10 am Welcome and Opening Remarks

This segment will set the context for the morning, explain why CMF input matters for the Scottsdale conference and ANSI Executive Committee (ExCO), and walk participants through the three themes and how the meeting will run.

Speakers:

- Dr. Laurie Locascio, President and CEO, ANSI
 - Peter Pondillo, Senior Manager, Standards & Policy, Corning Incorporated
ANSI CMF Chair

9:10 am – 10:00 am Session 1 – Engagement

This session will explore how companies currently engage in standards work, what gets in the way, and what practices work best, using examples, polling, and discussion to surface concrete ways ANSI and CMF can help increase and sustain effective company engagement in global standardization.

Speakers:

- Stephen Walls, Manager of External Standards and Standards Production, The Boeing Company
ANSI CMF Vice Chair

10:00 am – 10:50 am Session 2 – Strategic Collaboration

This session will walk through real-world problems (such as interoperability or resource constraints) to examine how companies collaborate internally, with other companies, SDOs, and government, and will identify how to learn from this collaboration or where collaboration breaks down. Using polling and dialogue, participants will identify what kinds of ANSI/CMF-led formats or structures would make collaboration easier and more strategic.

Speakers:

- Muhammad Ali, Senior Standards Strategy and Policy Leader, HP, Inc.
ANSI CMF Vice Chair

10:50 am – 11:00 am Coffee Break

11:00 am – 11:50 am Session 3 – Tools

This session will review existing ANSI and company tools that support standards participation or education, identify gaps and needs, and use polling and discussion to build a short list of high-value tools or resources CMF should champion, including potential quick wins and longer-term ideas.

Speakers:

- Peter Pondillo, Senior Manager, Standards & Policy, Corning Incorporated
ANSI CMF Chair

11:50 am - 12:00 pm Summary, Next Steps and Closing

This segment will pull together the top insights and recommendations from all three sessions, highlight common themes, and explain how these will be carried forward into ExCO discussions and post-event follow-up.

Speakers:

- Peter Pondillo, Senior Manager, Standards & Policy, Corning Incorporated
ANSI CMF Chair

12:00 pm – 1:00 pm Conference Lunch
