ANSI Executive Standards Council (ExSC) Statement:
Scopes of Applicants and Accredited Standards Developers

Initial scope statements are reviewed by the ANSI ExSC for the purposes of determining general alignment with the ANSI Essential Requirements (www.ansi.org/essentialrequirements). After an initial accreditation decision has been made, subsequent revisions to scope statements are generally not reviewed or approved by the ExSC, except in extraordinary circumstances, such as where a revised scope fundamentally and inappropriately changes the original scope statement in a manner that would likely violate the ANSI Essential Requirements. Generally, however, revised scopes are informational and can be used, for example, to avoid conflict and unnecessary duplication among proposed and approved American National Standards.
