Section 5.0 of the ANSI Essential Requirements

5.0 Normative policies and procedures for ANSI Audited Designators

An ANSI Audited Designator is an ANSI-Accredited Standards Developer (ASD) who has demonstrated a “consistent and extraordinary record of successful voluntary standards development” may apply and to ANSI at any time seeking whom the ANSI Executive Standards Council (ExSC) has granted the authority to designate its standards as American National Standards (ANS), without review and approval by the ANSI Board of Standards Review (BSR). This section articulates the administrative and processing requirements associated with Audited Designators.

5.1 Application for ANSI Audited Designator Status

An ASD who in good faith believes it could meet the extraordinary requirements for Audited Designator status may apply to ANSI to be considered as an Audited Designator in accordance with this section. The applicant shall provide the information specified in a complete application form developed by ANSI for this purpose. A and the ExSC shall make an initial determination whether the form makes a sufficiently strong showing that the Audited Designator criteria could be met. If so, the ExSC shall direct staff to issue a notice announcing the application shall be published in Standards Action with a call for comment. Simultaneously, an initial audit of the applicant shall be scheduled, in accordance with the ANSI Auditing Policy and Procedures. At, unless a complete regular audit was conducted within the conclusion of these actions, the Executive Standards Council (ExSC) last year (twelve months), in which case the ExSC may allow that audit to be considered in connection with the application process.

The ExSC shall consider the information supplied entire application using the factors set forth in Section 5.2. This review includes the completed application form, any comments received in response to the public notice of the application, any responses to those comments provided by the applicant, any comments a copy of the most recent audit report as well as any prior audits undertaken since the applicant was first accredited by ANSI (and responses received, the audit results, and the initial all audit responses,) and will make a decision concerning the disposition any other information the ExSC believes is relevant to its consideration of the application. In making a decision on such an application, the ExSC. The ExSC may request any additional information reasonably necessary it believes is relevant to clarify issues raised by the application. Thereafter, ANSI shall: approve or to the application as submitted; approve criteria used to evaluate it and may ask the application contingent on receipt of certain applicant additional assurances; questions or deny for responses to the application. ExSC’s questions. Based upon this record, the ANSI ExSC will issue its decision to the applicant. Any decision to deny the application may thereafter be appealed by the applicant to the ANSI Appeals Board. When an application has been finally approved by ANSI, a notice so indicating shall be made in Standards Action.

5.2 Criteria for approval of ANSI Used to Assess Applications for Audited Designator Status

In determining whether an accredited standards developer has achieved a “consistent record of successful voluntary standards development,” the ANSI ExSC shall consider all evidence reasonably bearing on the issue, including the extent of the notice provided by the applicant concerning its development activities and the integrity of the other due process safeguards used by the applicant in conducting its work. A presumption shall exist that this test has been satisfied where a) the developer has been involved in voluntary standards development work for at least five (5) years, b) during that period, the BSR has approved at least ten of the developer’s standards or if ten standards have not been approved, standard(s) totaling at least 100 pages and c) no standard submitted by the developer during the five (5) year period was finally denied American National Standard status by ANSI due to a failure to adhere to the principles and procedures upon which the developer’s accreditation was based. The inability of an applicant to make use of this presumption shall in no way preclude consideration of its application based on all the relevant

- 50 In determining whether an ASD has demonstrated an extraordinary record of successful American National 51 Standards development, the ExSC, shall consider, among other things, whether the applicant:
- 52 1. has held the status of ASD continuously for more than ten (10) years.
 - 53 2. sponsors a relatively large number of ANS at the time of application, e.g., 75-100.
 - 54 3. has received satisfactory audits, with no requirement issued by the ExSC to undergo a special 55 audit, in its two (2) most recent audits.
 - 56 4. has not had its accreditation suspended or withdrawn within the last 10 years.
 - 57 5. has not had ANS status withdrawn for cause from any of its documents within the last 10 years.
 - 58 6. can demonstrate that it has submitted all annual Compliance Forms by the established deadline, 59 within the last 10 years.
 - 60 7. can demonstrate an appropriate handling of procedural appeals.
 - 61 8. can demonstrate a history of giving prompt consideration to the written views and objections of all 62 participants in ANS development processes.
 - 63 9. can demonstrate that it has accurately communicated its status as an ASD to the public with respect
64 to its standards development work and accreditation status, and has complied with ANSI's
65 Guidelines on the use of ANSI marks.
 - 66 10. has faithfully adhered to all of the policies, rules, procedures and requirements applicable to 67 ASDs and the development of ANS.
 - 68 11. can demonstrate that its work and reputation is of the highest caliber, such that delegation by ANSI
69 of the right to self-designate ANSs would be in keeping with ANSI's own high standards and would 70 maintain the value and integrity of the ANSI name.

71 ~~Upon a final decision to grant an accredited standard's developer's~~ ASD's application for Audited Designator
72 ~~status,~~ the developer shall enter into a written agreement with ANSI, (Agreement), which shall include
73 commitments by the ~~developer~~ ASD to meet the requirements listed below. The agreement shall be for a
74 term of no longer than two (2) years. Any additional terms included in the agreement may be modified as
