9:30am-12:30pm	National Strategy & Federal Implementation of CBRNE Standards In pursuit of the President’s goal of national preparedness, it is essential that the Nation has reliable chemical, biological, radiological, nuclear, and explosives (CBRNE) countermeasures equipment that can be used with confidence for the protection of life, health, property, and commerce. The National Strategy for CBRNE Standards, which describes the Federal vision and goals for the coordination, prioritization, establishment, and implementation of CBRNE equipment standards by 2020 was created by the Cabinet-level National Science and Technology Council. It represents the Federal consensus regarding the development of standards for CBRNE equipment used by Federal, state, local, and tribal responders for CBRNE detection, protection, and decontamination. The Strategy is the result of a process that included the identification of current research efforts and practices with respect to performance specifications and test methods, as well as standards-development needs of all relevant Federal entities. The panel will provide an overview of the national strategy and the status of implementation of the six goals of the national strategy. Moderator: Phil Mattson, U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Panelists: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Franca Jones, Assistant Director, Chemical & Biological Countermeasures, White House OSTP (invited) • Tod Companion, U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS) • Debra Shuping, U.S. Department of Defense (invited) • Keith Holtermann, Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) (invited) • Jonathan Szalajda, NIOSH (invited)
