USNC POLICY ON DISTRIBUTION OF FREE COPIES OF IEC STANDARDS AND WORKING DOCUMENTS FOR USE IN USNC STANDARDS DEVELOPMENT ACTIVITIES

General

- IEC Standards and related working documents, such as technical publications, guides, advisory committee documents, working drafts, committee drafts and final drafts (hereinafter “Working Documents”) are protected by IEC copyright. Under circumstances described in this policy, IEC Standards and Working Documents may be provided to authorized TAG Members and certain third parties free of charge for use in standards development activities. Such documents remain copyright protected, however, and continue to be subject to certain other copying and redistribution limitations.

Copies of IEC Standards and Working Documents For Use By TAG Members

- IEC Standards and/or Working Documents provided under this policy shall be used by the USNC, its members, the members of the USNC TAG, TAs, Deputy TAs, USNC Experts, TAG Secretary and others specifically identified by the TAG Secretary (“Authorized TAG Members”) exclusively in the formation of USNC positions on the development, national implementation or maintenance of IEC Standards.
- Authorized TAG Members needing free copies of IEC Standards or Working Documents should obtain permission from the TAG Secretary for the subject USNC TAG.
- A TAG Secretary may grant a request by Authorized TAG Members for free copies of IEC Standards or Working Documents in circumstances where such Authorized TAG Member has demonstrated a direct need for such documents in connection with the standards development, implementation or maintenance activities of a USNC TAG. In making that determination the TAG Secretary may consult with the Technical Advisor (TA) or the Office of the USNC General Secretary.

- Authorized TAG Members who have been provided free copies of IEC Standards or Working Documents under this policy shall take reasonable steps to ensure that such documents are not further disseminated outside of the USNC TAG and shall neither post the documents on public servers nor make them available to groups of non-TAG members.
- Authorized TAG Members who have been provided free copies of IEC Standards or Working Documents may share such documents with individuals within their companies for the purposes of defining company positions and representations to other TAG members.
- Subject to the provisions of this policy, free Copies of IEC Standards or Working Documents furnished to Authorized TAG Members may be provided in an editable format which may be copied and modified by the Authorized TAG Member as needed.

Copies of IEC Standards and Working Documents for Use By Certain Third Parties Outside the TAG

- On a limited-exception basis, and within the sole discretion of the TAG Secretary, particular IEC Standards or Working Documents may be shared with parties outside the TAG if such disclosure is required to ensure that the necessary expertise (representing broad US interests) will be used in formulating decisions necessary to the standards development, implementation or maintenance activities of a USNC TAG. If TAG Secretary determines that such disclosure is necessary, he/she shall provide a single copy of the relevant document to such third party who shall have no rights to further copy or distribute such document.

Watermarking of All Documents Made Available to Authorized TAG Members or Third Parties

- Whether made available in electronic or hard-copy format, all documents made available under this policy shall either be “watermarked” with the appropriate copyright statement in accordance with Attachment “A” or be accompanied by a cover page that includes the appropriate copyright statement. In either case, a typical “copyright” notice shall be placed in the document.

Announcements

- These policies are to be announced broadly to the USNC’s constituency and will be included in the USNC’s Statutes and Rules of Procedure and the Model USNC TAG Operating Procedures.
