

ANSI-SAC International Seminar on Social Organization Standard Cooperation and Development

Planning

With further deepening of China standardization reform, social organization standards have undergone rapid development and gained great attention from the Chinese government and social organizations from all walks of life. Compared to the U.S., which has developed a voluntary consensus standards system for over 100 years, China is still in the early stage of social organization standards development. In order to conduct a comprehensive, cross-disciplinary, high-level dialogue on social organization standards and reach consensus on research and policy in an open environment, SAC and ANSI plan to jointly sponsor an international seminar on “ANSI-SAC social organization standard cooperation and development” to discuss the latest hot issues of China standardization reform and exchange research findings and perspectives in the area of social organization standardization so as to point out the direction for the future development of social organization standards and provide reference for China's standardization reform.
